the 1990s, the state's role in health care was being reexamined. The 1992 Health Care Reform Act, which was passed by the U.S. House of Representatives, was a landmark piece of legislation that would have fundamentally altered the U.S. health care system. The bill would have established a national health care system, with a central authority that would be responsible for financing, regulating, and providing health care services.

The bill would have also established a national health insurance program, which would have provided coverage for all Americans. The program would have been financed through a combination of federal and state taxes, and would have been administered by a central authority. The bill would have also established a national health care system, which would have provided a range of services, including primary care, specialty care, and long-term care. Foreword

THIS volume has caused the editors many thoughtful hours. We have labored hard that it might be the best that Hobart High School has ever known. Perhaps our ambitions were too high; even so, the attempt has been worthwhile; the effort has been pleasant. We have tried to portray High School life as it now is for this is the High School that we love; it is ever growing better. We have also tried to give you a glimpse of the country around us. We trust that this our work may add in some way to the forward movement. We have done our best. We now present it to you. May it stand on its merits.

*"Might of the roaring boiler,
Force of the engines thrust,
Strength of the sweating toiler,
Greatly in these we trust,
And back of them stands the Schemer
The Thinker who drives things through
Back of the Job—the Dreamer
Who's making the dream come true!"*

Board of Education

BACK of every progressive school system stands the Board of Education, the silent partners in the important work of public education. In the background as they are, much of the criticism and little of the glory falls to them. But schools can progress only as they catch a vision and pursue that vision loyally, intelligently, patiently. The Hobart schools are fortunate in possessing such a Board of Education. They have caught the vision of a rapidly developing Lake County, and are eager that the Hobart Schools keep pace with that development.

To this end they have given freely of their time and ability. Just now they are working toward a new building for the High School. A fifteen acre site at First and Wisconsin Streets was purchased last year and the Board hopes within another year to erect the first unit of a modern building on that site.

Mr. Mundell, the president, has been a member of the board for five years; Mr. Roper, the treasurer, three years; and Mrs. Wall, the Secretary, is completing her second year. None of the members have ever missed a meeting of the Board.

Why Lake County, Indiana, was selected for the site of the United States Steel Corporation's Gary Mills

The location of the United States Steel Corporation's steel mills in Lake County, Indiana, was chosen after careful study of this and many other places in the middle west. Among the essential features to be considered were, availability of suitable land, markets for finished products and adequate transportation facilities. The site where the City of Gary now stands offered all of these to a large degree.

Plenty of land was available; its topography and sub-soil conditions were eminently suitable for building and operation of steel plants and for the construction of working men's homes. The demand for steel throughout the west and northwest gave promise of ample markets for a large volume of production. The Great Lakes provided unexcelled water transportation facilities for the assembly of raw materials, such as ore and limestone from dependable sources of supplies in the states of Michigan and Minnesota.

Why Lake County, Indiana, was selected for the site of the United States Steel Corporation's Gary Mills

The many railroad trunk lines which lead to and from Chicago, making it the largest railroad center in the world, were available to Gary by connection belt-lines, and afforded additional facilities for bringing in other raw materials, including fuel, and for the distribution of finished products of the steel mills. The proximity of industrial areas in the vicinity of Chicago made available a large supply of good labor. Lake Michigan provided an abundance of clean, wholesome water for domestic and for manufacturing uses. Nearby, towards the south, there were large areas of fertile land devoted to producing a variety of food, including meats, milk and vegetables for supplying the needs in Gary at relatively low costs.

All these considerations, studied in advance, of the advantages of this location for the mills and city of Gary have been proved sound by twenty years of actual experiences and marvelous development.

“Thoughts that Breathe”

Hobart High!

Who can form a just estimate of what is to be the result of your touch upon the lives of this community?

Mayhap it will be found that over your desks pored Youth dreaming dreams that were the foreshadowing of exalted careers, that out of your shelter enriched and strengthened by your tutelage, came those who today are trained leaders, for the County's upbuilding. Industrial leaders, bankers, county official,—perchance counselors to a world distraught—all will acclaim this credit.

Hobart High, with reverence we impress your image upon these pages that those who have your seal upon their diplomas may ever carry you with them to honor and to cherish.

“A Strong Mind in a Healthy Body”

The French have a proverb: “Merriment, mild exercise, and modest diet, are three doctors who do not deceive their patients.” And who shall deny the efficacy of these in bringing happiness to mankind?

Believing that a sound mind should be housed in a sound body, Hobart has given her High School a gymnasium of modern construction and complete equipment. In it both boys and girls receive careful and scientific supervision of their exercises in order that harmful over-exertion may be avoided. Much of the recreational activity of Hobart High is centered in Roosevelt Gym, which is architecturally pleasing and in every way worthy of the progressive spirit so manifest in Lake County.

The smaller picture is a view of “Indian Ridge,” a bit of landscape locally famous and steeped in interest where the Youth of To-day will find his relaxation from his industrial To-morrow.

“We Think as the Sage but Feel as the Man”

President Garfield, in 1880, in the course of an address said: “The American people are gaining leisure; upon their use of this leisure, the future of the nation will depend.”

Hobart believes this to be true, and her beautiful Public Library is an answer to that challenge, an invitation to her people of whatever walk of life to devote at least a share of their leisure to the reading of good books. The secrets of the past ages, the glory and the shame of centuries past, that silently point the great lessons of our today—history, romance travel, the arts, geography, science, sports, economics,—all are here spread before whoever will come and partake of the feast.

In the smaller picture we present the home of one of Hobart's fraternal organizations. It typifies the fraternal spirit and is symbolic of all others whose great purpose is to keep alive in the hearts of their fellowmen, the duties they owe each other and to the Supreme Being.

“Where Law Ends, Tyranny Begins”

“Law is nothing but a correct principle drawn from the inspiration of the gods, commanding what is honest, and forbidding the contrary.”
—Cicero.

Men have dreamed of a state of society that recognizes no law,—a condition of anarchy. What a fallacy! William Pitt,—perhaps England’s greatest statesman—declared “Where law ends, tyranny begins.” It was on just such a philosophy, as that expounded by these men that our republic was founded, and now, behold a nation in which civil and religious liberty stimulate all to earnest endeavor, and in which the law strives to restrain every hand uplifted for a neighbors injury.

We picture here the Lake County Court House, temple of our Laws, repository of our County’s records and center of our County government.

Below you see a section of the Lake County Fair Grounds, which means much to the agricultural life and is the most complete and beautiful fair grounds in Indiana.

Steel - "The Barometer of Trade"

The Illinois Steel Company's plant at Gary is pictured here. It is one of the greatest industrial plants of the world,—so mammoth, so famous throughout the world, that notables frequently devote days to the inspection of these mills. The flaming stacks and the roaring furnaces, the vast and intricate machinery, the marvelous efficiency of organization, captivate their interest, just as it does the visitors from our own vicinity. Here one sees the different stages of steel and iron manufacturing, beginning with the crude iron ore, which passes through the fiery blast of the furnaces to be poured in molten streams, and on through the gigantic rolls and presses until it becomes the girders, beams and various structural forms of commerce.

And in striking contrast with the heat and toil of these mills we present a bit of restful beauty that also is Gary's—a nook in Jefferson Park.

"The Mint of the Golden Fluid"

Standard Oil Tanks at Whiting! And the casual passerby wrinkles his nose as he hastens to where the air is not so redolent with the breath of oil. But to him whose observations convey thoughts these mammoth tanks speak of feverish activity in the far away oil fields, of wells spouting their slimy contents into the air, while dancing about them in wildest glee are the workers who had battled with unnumbered discouragements in their efforts to release this stream from its age-old prison many hundreds of feet beneath the earth's surface. And from these have come the pipelines interspaced with powerful pumps, which force the oil swirling on its way from the Southland to this great industrial center in Lake County. Truly, these grim tanks shout an epic of achievement in twentieth century affairs.

And how restful to the eye, how soothing to the mind is this drive in Whiting Park, a scene which proves that with all of its strenuous industrialism this city takes time to "live by the way."

“’Tis Beauty Truly Blent”

In spots such as these in Hammond, we are privileged to commune with lovable Dame Nature and know the peace of her restful moods. She spreads for us the grateful shades of sylvan beauty, the velvety green of charming glades, the sheen of tranquil waters murmuring with muted voice to the passing breezes. Here Childhood prattles in play that presages all the wisdom of the Future, here vibrant Youth comes to stroll in the eloquent silence of a tender dream from which it will create its Tomorrows; and here, too, comes ruminant Age for surcease from the busy humdrum of the passing days and, in fragrant retrospection, to live again its yesterdays.

It is not all life to toil; it is not all of worship to kneel in edifices frescoed by the hand of man. Here but an arrow's flight from the toiling marts of industry the busy cities have breathed their heart and soul into parks where one may withdraw from struggle and come close to God in a temple fashioned by His own hand.

“Ease and Alternate Labor Make Useful Lives”

Education, once considered an ornament for prosperity, was found to be a refuge in adversity, and when America decreed that education should be common to all, and in some respects, compulsory to all, the School became a cornerstone of the republic. To Lowell High School, one of the great components of this great cornerstone, we dedicate this page.

At this altar of knowledge, aspiring Youth, flame-earnest, will light a candle that may—who knows—burn its way through stultifying error and in God’s good time illuminate a groping world. What payer of taxes, pondering on school affairs, will find the voice of Parsimony seductive when contemplation of these possibilities unblinds him to such vistas?

The smaller picture is beautiful Cedar Lake, the lure of whose delights bring pleasure seekers from a radius of many miles. Fishing, boating, bathing! Cedar Lake, O Cedar Lake, how many and how glorious are your charms when summer is the guest of nature!

“Concrete for Permanence”

This is the plant of “The Universal Portland Cement Company,” at Buffington, which forms an important link in the great chain of industrial activities in Lake County. Products of this Company find their way wherever civilization is known. Probably no one ever wrote a poem about cement, but, after all, if one could trace the real story that is mixed into the gray output of one of these mills would it not be found to be wonderfully rich with red-blooded life and love and struggle and achievement? And what is true poetry, but a song of these?

With their great stacks pouring forth the smoke from furnaces that are never cold, these cement mills are proclaiming to the world that they are serving the welfare of mankind with typical, permanent, American enterprise.

On the same page we present pictorially the City Hall in East Chicago, one of the handsomest structures in which any city in the State of Indiana, houses its municipal affairs.

"She Walks the Waters Like a Thing of Life"

In the pageantry of progress as it has been presented during the changing ages, ships always have been prominently identified, always have loomed largely in the never-ending drama of human affairs, about them that subtle hint of romance that lurks everywhere behind reality.

The shiplanding shown here is typical of every day scenes in the busy ports of Lake County to which cargoes for and from all parts of the world find their way, contributions to mankind's necessities and pleasures. And whether the vessels that bear these cargoes spread sails to the varying winds or whether they drive through the waves at the urge of steam, they are important factors in the business activities of this truly remarkable country.

Such a scene has about it something that savors of a call to service, a faint tang of inspiration to young men and women of our today to enter whole-heartedly into the reality of their own epoch.

“A Babbled of Green Fields”

The world began with a garden, and today the basic strength—the source of truest glory—of any relation will be found among the quiet scenes of the rural districts.

Elsewhere in this Annual are set forth by word and picture the manufacturing activities of our section, and a fascinating picture it is! Truly worthy, yes; but theirs is the challenge of the spectacular while here you come to know the tranquil charm of a pastoral.

Today the farmer is a man of education, widely read, availing himself of all that science places at his disposal, the result being that he is one of the ablest of business men. In all of these things our own state has kept well in the van, so it is not vain glory when we sing:

*“The winds of heaven never found
The circling sunlight never spanned
The borders of a fairer land
Than our own Indiana.”*

“A Wave o’ the Sea, ‘The Kankakee’”

A silver thread on the bosom of Mother Earth!

Some there are who would unweave the rainbow, to whom all things are but commonplace—the starry festivals about the throne of Night; birds trilling their madrigals amid the woodland blossoms; the tints of Twilight’s robes on far-off hills; the coloring of cornfields in autumn; the wild geese sailing high. Glancing at this pictured thread of beauty, they will say, “I see only a river.” But others will whisper, “’Tis the Kankakee.”

One of the enchanting bits that make this favored nook of America a continual delight to those who look about them with seeing eyes, the Kankakee comes down from its cradle in the northeast corner of Indiana and smiles across the southern part of Lake County as it makes its laughing way to the changeless sea.

"The Land of Long Ago"

"The Land of Long Ago," some fanciful writer has termed the Indiana Dunes, a primitive wilderness that is one of the scenic glories of Lake County.

It comprises two thousand acres on the shores of beautiful Lake Michigan, and you will find a great variety of plants and flowers, including the cactus of the tropics and other plants not found in any other part of the United States.

A ramble through this wonderland is most fascinating whether the woody clumps be fresh with vernal green, sedate with summer's maturity, or a fantasy of autumn's gorgeous colorings. Climbing to some master dune, one beholds the rippling waters of the Lake on one hand, and the strange beauty of the dunes on the other forming a panorama unparalleled in the central west. From afar come strangers to pay homage to its unique charm.

GUY DICKEY, Superintendent

SO WELL known was the work of Mr. Dickey throughout our county, that when Hobart was in need of a Superintendent for its Schools, two years ago, he was sought to assume the position. Not one moment of regret has come to anyone through the wise action of our Board of Education, for before the end of the year through his efforts Hobart High School was admitted into the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The Cafeteria, the complete reorganization of our music department with the various additions that it has given us, are some examples of the constant progress the school has made under his supervision. Certainly this remarkable progress, is in a large measure, due to the capable manner in which he has executed his duties.

He always has time for a joke or a cordial greeting with the students and their problems are his. He is very energetic and a good leader because he feels a keen and human interest in his vocation and " 'Tis no sin for a man to labor in his vocation."

JESSE HERMAN BAKER, Principal

ALTHOUGH Mr. Baker has been with us only two years, he has made himself a friend who will never be forgotten. Living and believing in the right, a staunch advocate of the square deal, his motto might well be "Firm, yet fair." He is always ready to help and advise whenever such kindness is needed. His interest lies not only in his professional duties as principal, but also in all the activities that make for a better school life. He is striving to introduce courses into our schedule, which will make it possible for students to graduate from Hobart High School, specialized in Vocational, General or Academic subjects.

A man whom everyone admires, Mr. Baker stands as a worth-while example for those who aspire to higher things. He is a friend among friends.

THE MINE

How like unto the mine is the Junior High School!

Here may be found the raw materials,—the iron-ore, the coal, the limestone which lie there potentially ready to be drawn upon and developed, and so may this be said of our Junior High School. It is a mine whose potential values are greater than those found in the history of kingdoms—not the wealth of gold or silver or diamonds,—but of all that crowns life with success, for here young lives, more precious to the world than such material things, with greater possibilities for bestowing blessings upon mankind.

Into this wondrous human mine must delve working minds capable of finding there the good ore which has awaited the time when modern schools and other refining influences could begin the task of transmutation into another form, a form in which it can fulfill its destiny and worthy serve mankind. For, after all, human lives are like ore, first crude-existing only through primal law,—then ringing to the miner's pick, and passing on to be subjected to Titanic forces. With human life as with ore, it is dug, and graded and carried to places demanding the products of the mines.

Happy is the augury if those whose duty it is to conduct this mine, shall find a stratum that the analysis reveals as Ambition. For if such is the case, it gives indication that close at hand will be found good ore that will meet every test.

The community that has within its environs, a mine such as constitutes our Junior High School, is fortunate, for every atom of true worth that comes forth to service, leaves its touch for good, an impress which deepens as the decades plod on.

GLIMPSES FROM THE SHAFT

"FLUE DUST"

Mr. Moss (to his 8B and 8A pupils): "You may whisper all you please, just so you don't disturb your neighbor."

Mr. Bagshaw: "Alvin, where is Russia?"

Alvin (pausing dumbly): "On the map."

Teacher: "In Canada the snow is about seven feet deep at times."

Pupil, speaking up: "Boy! I bet they have to jack the cows up to milk 'em."

Miss Stuart: "John, use debate in a sentence."

John: "I went a fishin' and took de-bate."

Edward: "Gee whiz, we've been on that subject for about a week."

John: "Aw, what's the use of hollerin'. We had July for a month."

Teacher: "James, make a sentence using defeat, defense, and detail."

James: "Defeat of decat went over defense before detail."

Teacher: "John, make a sentence using cloth."

John: "I can't think of any."

Teacher: "Well, what is your coat made of."

John: "It's made out of Daddies old trousers."

These songs remind me of:

1. Baby Face—Walter Sayger.
2. Mary Lou—Edward Nicklason.
3. Sleepy Head—Leonard Smelter.
4. Rock Me to Sleep in an Old Rocking Chair—Peter Price.

THE FRESHMEN "MOMENTS"

Freshmen have those moments,
When we wish they hadn't been,
When the Seniors mock and scoff us
And call us awful green.

Again we have our moments,
When our Junior friends advise,
And show us that we're silly,
And they are mighty wise.

And, too, we have our moments,
When we note the Sophomore's nerve,
When he up and shoots a paper-wad,
And does a fancy curve.

But after all our moments,
Are not so very dull,
For we would rather be ourselves,
Although we may be null.

We'd rather be ourselves and green,
Than sit upon a throne,
Or live on Senior mountain-top,
For they dwell there alone.

We would not want to be so wise
That we could never see,
The children at their michievousness,
And join them in their glee.

We would not want to try our bluff,
To see how long 'twould last.
Because such bluff wears out sometimes,
And hopes prove futile blasts.

So after all our moments,
We're Freshmen just the same,
And nothing we do can change us,
It's all in the measly name.

CLINKERS

LOST: A flask by a Freshman holding two quarts. Finder please return the same to Bryan Allen.

Heard from a Freshman at a Sunday dinner: Yes, Mr. Smith, mother had intended to serve two chickens, but the other one got better.

Howard Campbell: "What is it that has feet and can't walk?"
 Vernon Calvert: "Don't know."
 Howard: "A yard stick."

ENGLISH ASSIGNMENT 9B

Write a definite description of a baseball game you have seen.
 Lawrence Dooling's Theme:
 English Nine Bee. Game called off on account of rain.

FRESHMAN PHILOSOPHY

If it wasn't for the law of gravity we wouldn't have to wear suspenders.

One of our freshmen girls was asked to attend to the household duties on Saturday, while mother attended the club meeting. In the course of the meeting, mother was called to the telephone, and received the following message from Helen.

"Mother, please hurry home, I must have crossed the wires, because the radio is full of frost, and the iceless refrigerator is broadcasting music."

Bob S.: "Why do the people of Canada build their chicken coops on the north side of the hill?"

Elizabeth S.: "I bite. Why do they?"

Bob S.: "To keep the chickens in—of course."

FRESHMAN SCRIBBLES

Sophomores, "On the way to the Furnace"

Greet ye the Sophomores—materials that are now on the momentous journey to the smelters whose fiery blasts will prepare it for the work of modeling into form, as an offering to the great god, Service.

Thus far, this material has known naught but the preliminaries of the great processes by which it is to be given to the world as the finished product, fit and ready for whatsoever duty the welfare of man dictate. Now it is being carried forward by fully perfected methods to undergo the supreme trial of the smelters. The flames will be hot, the tests severe, but the miners have pronounced this material "good", and their judgment seldom errs and they have not misplaced their confidence, of that we are quite sure.

And so, too, are those whose names are enrolled as Sophomores moving forward to more important phases of their school life, where the flames which they encounter affect their beings as greatly as those of the smelter does that of the ore. More effective and important? Did a question arise in your mind when you read those words? They were deliberately chosen to arouse protest. And, the protest is just. The duties of tomorrow are not of greater consequence than those of today, but in building, in mining, in life, it were well and greatly to be commended if from the fulfilled obligations of the present we gather skill and strength for the responsibilities yet to come. A whole structure may crumble because of one weak beam, and to view the future in consequence of the present dispels the illusion of succumbing to unsuspected weakness.

Sophomores receive our salute! You are the material, and may that which lies ahead of you more and more develop your strength and worth and justify the thought and labor expended upon you!

FLAMING

THE SOPHOMORE'S "CHANCE"

If we had time to study
Our fame would be asserted.
But since our minds are foolish ones,
From seriousness diverted,
We do not lead the honor roll,
Nor do we lead the dance,
The only thing we lead, I guess
Is the little game called "Chance."

They send us to the principal
And he starts in quite mild,
But when he's through, we promise him
We'll cease to be so wild.
He tells us what we ought to do,
And while we're in a trance,
We promise to be good again
And he gives us another Chance.

Then comes along those old exams
In History and Math,
And since we haven't studied much,
Facts are not what we hath.
But since we've grit, we'll write a book,
And with one simple glance,
The teacher puts a red mark,
And gives us another Chance.

After all, I think our training,
Is fitting us for life,
For it is just a gamble,
The better wins the strife.
So if we gain experience,
In this great expanse,
It's worthwhile to be a Sophomore
And play the game of "Chance."

“KLINKERS”

The Sophomores saw a patch of green,
 “Tis Freshies,” said they with usual sass;
 But when they nearer to it drew
 They saw it was a looking glass.

IN THE SMELTERS

All hail the Juniors, heirs to Seniordom! They now are as material that has reached the smelter.

At such a period as this in the changing of crude ore into steel, interest mounts among those who await with mingled hope and misgiving the story that the flames will reveal. Will this ore prove to be too largely slag, something of slight value to the world, or will it, by becoming good steel, reward the efforts, the hopes, the infinite care that has been bestowed upon it—Steel—that material sinew of an era rightfully flourishing with the gifts wrought in the workshops of the ages.

As these Juniors have pressed onward toward their goal, their steadfastness has won the commendation of Lake County. And now—now within the next few fleeting weeks—is when they will give answer to the anxious wonderings as to whether this ore is to become part of the structure of Life, the steel that will constitute the next graduation class, or whether this present point is to be the ending so far as this great human-industrial plant, Hobart High School, is concerned.

May the influence of the good steel that today is filling the great functions of the world project itself into the smelter that this material may by its power be brought to meet the test! May it hear voices—voices of those patient builders who have passed this way before, voices that shall summon it to face forward resolutely, voices that shall inspire it to follow Purpose without faltering!

When ready to take your places in the building of civilization's affairs there will be many demands for you who are now Juniors—the material in the smelter—and the higher you grade when tested the greater the opportunities that will manifest themselves.

THE JUNIOR "LIFE"

Our life is filled with pleasures
Of the very finest kind
Because you see we love to serve
The super Senior mind.

We banquet them, we dance them
We fill their life with cheer
We serve them ere they leave us
That the parting be not drear.

Just what does "Junior" really mean?
There are none of us who know.
But we're quite certain of one thing
It keeps us on the go.

Whenever someone's needed,
And each day it's duty brings,
The Junior Class must wake right up
And flap its tired wings.

In Student Council, Glee clubs
In Orchestras and Bands.
Whenever help is needed
The Juniors lend a hand.

At games we sell the candy
Ice-cream, gum and pop,
For in the field of finance
We must come out on top.

It's not so bad to be of use
To serve old Hobart High
I'd rather be a Junior
And work until I die—

Than be a bluffing Sophomore
Or of a Freshman's verdant hue
I'd rather be a Junior
Than a Senior—wouldn't you?

REFINED
while you
wait!

“Ready-to-Build”

Now! The Seniors—the refined and finished product—THE STEEL!

These four years we have been subjected to the intricate processes that bridges the span between the mines and the finished materials, between hope and realization, and finally the inspectors have approved our quality and stamped us, “Good Steel.”

We, the Seniors are now ready to build. Ready for the master workmen of the world to fashion into the forms and structures for the service of mankind. While we have passed the ordinary inspection of commerce, and others have adjudged us worthy to fit into life's structures, the final inspection must be our own. We must locate the hidden flaws and defects which will cause us to fail when the strains and stresses of life are placed upon us.

Ready to build! Human lives that have developed into trusty steel! Let it not be forgotten that steel is for important affairs. And also that staunch as it may be, through disuse it will rust. Let not this fault come upon us. Nor yet should we harbor dreams of accomplishments that smack of Aladdin and his lamp. Such are apt to bring in their wake, sagging will, the rust of discouragement, and collapse.

Ready to build! Substantial fit, Seniors—tested steel—! We have come into the most wonderful of all ages of history. Science and invention have changed the whole nature of the world's activities, and into such an age doth all the powers of efficiency bid us WELCOME.

The FORECAST

As I sat and dozed in the Senior Assembly, I began to think of the future; what and where would we Seniors be in fifteen, twenty years. As I sat there thinking, my surroundings seemed to fade away and I felt like a spirit in another world. I saw a big city, a busy industrial city with masses of people moving to and fro on its busy streets.

On one of its prominent streets was a beautiful marble building, Above the entrance in large stone letters were the following: "HOBART CITY HALL."

Inside this building was a number of cozy business like offices. The first one I saw on entering the building was the office of the Mayor, Edwin E. Scharbach. Down the line I saw some offices that did not belong in this building, there before me I saw, "DONALD LEE, DENTIST. WALK IN." I did. There was an elderly gentleman with glasses extracting a tooth from a dignified looking lady. Suddenly there was a cry of pain and the patient raised her stout right arm and hit Mr. Lee an awful blow on the chin.

"Brute," she cried as she walked out, "I'll see that my husband hears about this."

"Now, Mrs. Havrilla—" began Don, but Tuberia was gone.

Nicholas Havrilla, Tuberia's husband was assistant director of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Just as I stepped out into the street, a large 1950 Model Limousine drove up in front of the building. A lady in a beautiful ermine coat stepped out accompanied by a very well dressed man which I judged to be very rich. They were in conversation. As they passed me the tall handsome dark haired man was speaking.

"I wonder if your old friend will recognize you, Madeline?"

"I don't know," she replied. "I haven't seen him for years. He doesn't know you, does he, Morgan?"

"No, I guess not."

They then passed and went into the building I had just come out of. I was inquisitive as I had recognized the lady as Madeline Ballantyne. But I wanted to know more about her, so I followed them into the building. Straight into Ed. Scharbach's office they went. Ed. looked at both of them over the rim of his glasses then burst out. "Why it's my old friend 'Red' Ballantyne. Gee it's good to see you. I heard you were in Europe for your honeymoon. Just get back?"

"Yes, I want you to meet Mr. Morgan, my husband."

They rambled on—talking of nothing very important. I resolved to return to the street, my thirst for curiosity was quenched for the present. I had found out that "Red" had married a millionaire who was president of an automobile manufacturing company. I made my way toward what I thought would bring me to the parks, if there were any. I was walking

North when suddenly, as I rounded the corner a huge building loomed in view. It was the Hobart City Schools. I perceived this from the corner stone. I decided to go up and look around. Curiosity is my middle name, you know. As I stepped inside the building the first thing that struck my eye was the Superintendent's Office. In large black letters on the glass were the following: "CARL SCHEID. SUPT. HOBART CITY SCHOOLS."

I opened the door and peeked in. There, sure enough, sat Carl Scheid, with feet on the desk, giving orders to two teachers. "Here, Miss Wanamaker, is a bonus for your excellent primary teaching and you Miss Burris deserve the same for your excellent primary work."

Everything seemed to drift away from me after this and I found myself in a different city. I was in the Police Headquarters of Chicago.

The Chief of Police who sat in a big chair by a big desk, was a small man and looked like an Irishman. He was giving orders to another policeman, "Send in Sergeant Helin, the best detective on the force. I want to see him." Mr. Helin soon appeared.

"What it is Mr. Brantigan?"

"There's been a mysterious house robbery at the home of the noted musician, Mr. Harry Coons. Some of Mrs. Elinor Coons valuable jewelry was stolen. It's your job, Helin, clean it up. By the way, before you go—your wife phoned saying for you to stop at Dooling and Nelson's Jewish Department store and get some Irish linen. All right, be off Old Boy."

No sooner had Sergeant Helen disappeared out of the door when voices were heard in a loud argument coming closer and closer. "I tell you Flannigan, I wasn't going over ninety-five, I tell you I wasn't!"

"Oh, shut yer mouth, I ought to know. You were going a hundred and fifty or not at all."

"But——"

"Oh, begorra, tell it to the Chief."

Flannigan pushed the unfortunate one in front of him before the chief.

"Charged for doing what?" asked Chief Brantigan.

"Fer speeding, your Honor. He was going over ninety-five."

"And what is your name?" he said to the victim.

"Frank Brown."

"Frank Brown! Why Flannigan you shouldn't have arrested him, why he is an old school-mate of mine and he's—why he's business manager of 'The Ladies Home Companion'."

"No?" says Flannigan down-heartedly and walked out.

"Have a cigar Mr. Brown, you remember your old friend Ben, don't you? You haven't changed much except your quite fat. But you know fat people are always jolly."

"Yes, I see you're quite jolly yourself," says Frank, laughing. "Say, while I think of it, you want to get our magazine. We're running one of the greatest sensational novels of the season. Luther Carlson's 'Did she fall or was she pushed.' Why, Mr. Carlson's received so much popularity over it. He's in the movies now." Ben Brantigan was quite dumfounded. He had not heard anything about it.

"That's not the only reason why you get our magazine. Dr. Swynenburg's 'How To Keep Well' is worth the price alone."

"Hold on!" says Ben. "I'll buy it. But tell me more about it."

"Well we gave a $50 000 cash prize for the one writing the best letter why they liked our magazinie. Marion Jackson won it. She's a school teacher out west now."

"Where's——" But again the scene shifted. This time to California—Hollywood especially. I saw a table in a comfortable, cozy, kitchen; on one end was seated Alma Belle Mattix. On the other end sat the young man who changed her name. He was a brilliant actor. He was reading the morning paper when suddenly he said, "What's this?"

"Read it," says Alma Belle.

"Richard Dix, once famous movie star dies of old age."

"Let me see it," says Alma Belle.

She took the paper, glanced over it hastily, then suddenly something struck her eye. "Well," she says, "Here's something! Max J. Brand, lawyer, wins fame in divorce case. Marjorie Stevens Rockefeller vs. David Rockefeller. Mrs. Rockefeller was awarded fourteen million dollars."

"And what's this?" she said as she looked more intently at the paper.

"Harold A. Heyer, Hobart accountant, wins fame for his great speed and accuracy; has accepted a position with the Standard Oil Company. Supt. Roy Harrison Shearer of the company says he is more than pleased with the work he has seen Mr. Heyer do. A huge reception in honor of Mr. Heyer's success was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Hatten. Mrs. Genevieve Hatten was hostess. Many friends were there, most all were distinguished and prominent men and women in the political and industrial world.

"Mrs. Maria Friedrich Brandenburg, wife of the U. S. minister to Germany, was present.

"Miss Eva Carlson, President of the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was there accompanied by Miss Helen Cliff, her Private Secretary and companion. Mrs. Helen Englund Bargundson, wife of the Swedish Minister to the United States, was present.

"Miss Florence Holzmer, the stout dignified lady of the reception, was present, accompanied by her fiance, Tito Marketo, the great opera singer.

"Last but by no means least, Gordon L. Shore, President of the North Shore Railroad, and City Postmaster William Wood were present and also were the leading speakers of the day."

Again the scene began to waver and I felt as if I were being pushed and shaken roughly. I opened my eyes with a start. It was dusk. Miss Wimbrough stood over me with one hand on my shoulder just about to shake me again. I jumped and realized it was only an Assembly Hall nap.

—LUTHER, THE PROPHET.

THE SENIOR'S "TOAST"

We're leaving in a month or two
It hurts to have to go,
We're leaving pals here quite a few,
More than we'll ever know.

We're going but we don't know where
Or how long we'll have to stay;
You see it's now expected,
The game of life we play.

We hope that we make new friends
In the paths where'er we tread,
But they won't be the same as you,
And the loneliness we dread.

And if we fail we know that you
Will be our friends all through;
For that's the kind of folks you are,
You'll always be true blue.

We hope that we bring honor
To you and Hobart High,
And we won't mind a single bit
To try and try and try.

So we'll come back some day, dear friends,
We'll come back just to see you,
And when we do, we'll grasp your hand,
Say, "Howdy-do!—How are you?"

At times we've been impatient,
And thought the journey long
And now we feel quite sad that we,
Must sing our Farewell song.

But since we've won this honor,
Our toast we'll try to live;
We'll bring you honor Hobart High—
Our best we'll always give.

“OUR BALANCE”

Faculty, Friends and Classmates:

The class of 1927 has decided to publish the balance sheet of its own last will and testament. Having examined our assets and absconded our liabilities, we feel it our duty and pleasure to will away the balance to our less fortunate “brethren and sistern.”

Accordingly, we the Senior class, bequeath our good behavior in the lower halls to the Freshmen class.

Accordingly, we the Senior class, bequeath all our spare moments “in bed” to our president, Edwin Scharbach.

We, the Senior class, bequeath all our original ideas for throwing entertainments to the Junior class, they will need them.

To the “sleepy Sophomore” class, we bequeath our “pep.”

To Mr. Baker, we bequeath many restful hours, since he will no longer need to police the halls, corridors and other secret school nooks for the Senior class.

To Mr. Dickey, we bequeath our best wishes and hope the violet ray proves successful, and that when we come back to visit our Alma Mater, that he will have a perfect marcel.

To those of you, who assist in conducting our funeral services, we leave our rose leaves, and other funeral aroma.

CLASS WILL

Item 1—I, Max J. Brand, bequeath my six years training in Hobart High to Minnie Misceovich.

Item 2—I, Benjamin K. Brantigan, bequeath—“I ain’t givin’ nothin’ away, I need all I got and more.”

Item 3—I, Madeline Ballantyne, bequeath my ability to charm Lawler to Grace Rossow.

SENIOR CLASS.

Margaret Wanamaker: "Oh, The Dickens! Did you see Oliver Twist?"

Helen Englund: "Of course not, you know I never attend these modern dances."

Miss Middlestadt: "Gordon, take this sentence, 'Lead the cow to the pasture.' What mood?"

Gordon Shore: "The cow, ma'am?"

Mr. Broad: "Max, your recitation reminds me of Quebec."

Max: "How is that, sir?"

Mr. Broad: "It's built on a bluff."

Max Brand: "Don't tell a girl she looks sweet enough to eat or she will."

Smokey "Why didn't you get your trousers pressed?"

Eli: "I couldn't."

Smokey: "Why?"

Eli: "Well, every place I'd come to would have a sign, saying, 'Trousers Pressed Inside!'"

Smokey: "Well?"

Eli: "I wanted mine pressed on the outside."

"Consider the gravity of the situation," said Mr. Baker, as he dropped the 100 lb. weight on Harold Heyer's toe.

Ben B.: "Do you know what they call lemons in Sioux City?"

Luther C.: "No, what?"

Ben B.: "Lemons."

ALUMNI OFFICERS

President	Harry Carlson
Vice-President	James Hawke
Treasurer	Elmer Scharbach
Secretary	Robert Nitchman

Alumni, you are what we someday will be. You have entered into the outer world (which to us is but a land of dreams, tinged a rosy hue by the very vividness of our imaginations) and won success. You represent achievement!

No great work has been ours—no fame—no success. Before us lies the future, holding for us everything. You have reached ahead! The dreams of your youth are realized—or forgotten. Your lives have been lived in part; ours stretch on before us indefinitely—holding for us—we know not what.

You have made our High School life, one to be remembered by your support and friendly interest. Your organization is to be commended for its success, and we hope when our name is placed in your hall of fame, that you will find some place where we too, may serve.

ALUMNI--"The Building"

The Alumni—the structures builded through the passing years!

Worthy and true, proved by the strains of life! You are the steel that has endured, and served, and brought honor to the mine, the smelter, and the forges that fitted you to be girders and beams and parts of great machinery driven by the power-house of integrity and aspirations.

You have come to know the truth of what Carlyle wrote: "The situation that has not its duty, its ideal, was never yet occupied by man. The ideal is in thyself; the impediment also in thyself. The condition is but the stuff thou art to shape that same ideal out of." You have learned—and your lives testify—that structures builded of good steel are not hazards of chance.

The Alumni—the building composed of the tested steel of a long line of graduation classes! What an inspiration for those upon whose diplomas the ink still is fresh! From you, these, who are yet but apprentices in the realm of practical endeavor may learn that miracles do not enter into the plans of those who are constructing. From you they may learn, too, not to ignore or overlook the true value of that which they may believe commonplace. They may come to remember that the farmers of Kimberley were a disheartened lot, believing that they could not earn a living where they were. Some left, and some died in poverty—and all the time their children were playing with diamonds. What had been thought to be pebbles were priceless gems.

The Kimberley story is a tale of yesterday. It is also a tale of today. Tomorrow will hold before Youth the same true tale that has been written in the life and endeavors of other communities.

Alumni, Hobart High has builded well in thee!

LITERARY SOCIETY

The Literary Society is the research laboratory of the English department. Here we meet the great men of literature and study their contributions, and try to discover why they are great. It is a society of moods and temperament, the re-action to our artistic dispositions. We wish to acquaint our group with the worthwhile dreams of dreamers, and make their dreams ours, and live them from day to day. We are not trying to be Miltons, Shakespeares, or Burns—but merely to learn to appreciate such as they.

Just because it looks like a banquet doesn't mean that it really was. We just dressed up like this to make a pretty picture. Then, too, it fitted in so well with our role in school, for we have developed a wonderful imagination as we have been building this book, so why not imagine a banquet? It's cheaper anyway!

STUDENT COUNCIL

Among the different organizations of Hobart High School there is none more worthy of notice and support than our Student Council. It has a high place in high school life because of what it stands for and hopes to accomplish. It is not a club, a literary society, or a social body. It is all of these, the advisory group who study the needs of the student body, and plan ways to meet them, and is back of everything which makes for progress for Hobart High. Its motto is "Boost Now!"

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB

Left to Right, Back Row—L. King, D. Rowe, T. Johnson, E. Johnson, M. Drackulich, R. Wilcox, E. Werner, C. Weaver, R. Nelson.

Second Row—M. Anderer, E. Mundell, C. Shearer, G. Shannon, A. Scharbach, H. Miller, R. Price, H. Grassa, O. Farnan.

Front Row—G. Duffy, M. Haxton, I. Marquart, Miss Stephens, D. Mellon, I. Wood, E. Scheid, I. Thiel.

Yes, we're the cooks! And we're glad that at last we deserve this title. During the year, through the profits which we received from our Cafeteria, we have effected savings of about five hundred dollars. Then we have made many excursions to different industrial plants connected with our department. The Amaizo Plant was very interesting to us, as were all the others, for our insight into the greatness of our art has been so enlarged.

NEWS-GAZETTE STAFF

Left to Right—Miss Middlestadt, Madaline Campbell, Alma Belle Mattix, Charles Klausen, Truth Trester, Ruth Cullman, Grace Rossow, Elinor Ferren, George Murray.

The News-Gazette is published Wednesday of each week. The members of the staff receive their positions from their class standing, and therefore it is a great honor to be selected as one of this group. The organization has been changed this year, still it has had the usual success in stimulating gossip and in informing students and alumni of what is and is not happening in the High School.

"THE LABOR WE DELIGHT IN"

Industries develop by means of their organizations. So has the toiler found that by means of his social and labor organizations, has he improved his scale of living, and brought more happiness to himself and family. Without organization all would be chaos, and until a oneness of purpose is the aim of every group, little is to be realized. So likewise would be the condition in our high school without the various organizations, of which we are justly proud, for each is functioning in its own channel for the same ideal, a "Better Hobart High." Each one of these organizations hold the best record that Hobart High has ever known.

The Newspaper Staff has the most complete organization that it has ever known and the "colyms" attract more attention than ever before. The Literary Society has enjoyed a rebirth, and for the first time in its life has lived through the entire year. The Student Council has made itself felt in every department of our school life, and through its committees, has done its share to "Boost, Build and Execute." The record made by these organizations surely lauds the capability of their sponsor, Miss Middlestadt, for by 'works are ye known'.

"The Whole Town's Talking," holds the decree of being the best play Hobart has ever known, yet not so successful as its title suggests, or some of its predecessors have been. Nevertheless, 'tis said its 'actin' was superb, and a delight to the audience.

The Annual Staff is giving its best to make its "Aurora" merit a place with that of the class of '26, whose book rated in the All American Group in the National Contest. Hours have been long, duties many, but the labor has been very pleasant. We feel it a great honor to follow the class which holds this record, and we trust ours will not make us unworthy to be their successors.

We are all "Toilers," giving much thought to the organizations, which give so much to us.

*"For just experience tells, in every soil,
That those that think must govern those that toil."*

HIGH SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

Front Row—Elizabeth Davis, Ella Meyers, Vladimir Micevich, Harriet McClaren, Madaline Campbell, Isabel Chandler.

What would we do without our Orchestra? It is "old faithful" to all our dramatic performances, convocations, and other functions needing music that is free. They never fail us, and can present the "Princess of India" so artistically, that they have been compared to professionals.

HOHI JAZZ ORCHESTRA

A sure cure for dyspepsia, a guaranteed chaser away of blues are these Hoho Musical Boys. They were organized early in the year by Mr. Revelli, and since then, have won their way into all the seasons social events, by furnishing specialties for the plays, after dinner music for banquets and toe kindlers at our dances. This group is known throughout the community and is a drawing card for any function wherein they appear. Hoho Jazz Boys.—we're proud of you!

FIRST BAND

Back Row—G. Shore, H. Wood.

Second Row—W. Nelson, J. Stewart, B. Brantigan, E. Dooling, J. Wanamaker, E. Westbay.

Third Row—A. Schwuchow, D. Friedrich, H. Englund, T. Ruchti, F. Brown.

Front Row—N. Havrilla, W. Thompson, T. Messick, K. MacDonald, H. Van Loon, E. Allen, R. Hawke, W. McAfee.

Yes, Hobart High School has a real band and one which at the end of its first year of training, ranked second in the County Musical Contest. It has played a large part in aiding and abetting the newly discovered "Pep" so evident in Hobart the last two years. Under the direction of Mr. Revelli it continues to make rapid progress and fewer discords.

SECOND BAND

Left to Right, Back Row—Walter Saeger, Frank Grassa, Earl Ramsey, Arthur Scharbach, George Frazer, Ray Ervin, Harvey Shultz.

Second Row—Bernice Vincent, Ione Wood, Ada Scharbach, Lucile Rockenstein, Madeline Campbell, Timothy Frederick, Donald Fowble.

The progress of the Second Band, since its organization last semester, has been unparalleled. It may be heard booming, buzzing, banging, and judging from the "Big Noises" 'busting' through the ventilators almost any hour in the day. It has reached the pinnacle in musicdom, for it can now force its audience to rise before it has completed the first stanza of "The Star Spangled Banner."

THE BEL CANTO

Back Row—Pete Marquardt, Arthur Schwuchow, Wilbur Thompson, Gordon Shore, Walfred Nelson, Warren Boyd, Thomas Messick, Harold Wood, Ben Brantigan, William Wood, Edward Dooling.

Second Row—Nicholas Havrilla, Edwin Scharbach, Helen Cliff, Ada Scharbach, Lucille Rockenstein, Madaline Campbell, Helen Ritter, Elinor Ferren, Truth Trester, Alice Van Loon, Doris Montoney, Doris Rowe, Walter McAfee, John Stewart.

Third Row—Frank Brown, Marion Jackson, Eunice Werner, Evelyn Johnson, Mary Drakulich, Ione Wood, Isabel Chandler, Mary Van Loon, Thelma Johnson, Marcella Kruse, George Murray.

Mixed!—yes, but not badly so, for as you notice the male element is not sufficient to contaminate all the feminine screams. Yet, you'd be surprised to hear that gusto of basso, and that tremulous twang of tenor, as they ring "The Bells of St. Mary's." Their harmony is instantaneous and they leave their audience ecstatic.

THE NIGHTINGALES

Back Row—H. Coons, R. Nelson, R. Nelson, C. Weaver, T. Trester, E. Werner, L. Flick, L. King, R. Wilcox, E. Johnson, L. Rockenstein.

Second Row—I. Wood, A. Scharbach, M. Campbell, E. Frederick, M. Mueller, M. Drackulich, N. Carlson, V. Ellenberger, H. Cliff, Mr. Revelli.

Front Row—E. Scheid, H. Ritter, E. Ferren, H. Holzmer, M. Miscovich, I. Chandler, O. Farnan, M. Chandler, M. Stevens, B. Bradley.

Here we have the Glee Club—the organization that scatters sunshine wherever it goes. At convocation they lighten the troubles that oppress our weary minds—they cheer us when the world seems at its worst. In fact it is an indispensable part of our school life. Last year it took second place in the Lake County Musical and this year we anticipate even a better record. We appreciate and enjoy our "Nightingales."

MIXED QUARTETTE

- | | |
|-------------------------|---------|
| Nicholas Havrilla | Bass |
| Lucy King | Alto |
| Luther Carlson | Tenor |
| Leotta Flick | Soprano |

We introduce to you our mixed quartette, whom we have never met yet, for while they have been organized and working for a long time, they have reserved their initial appearance until the Concert which is presented annually by our music department. We are sure of their ability, for each has appeared on other musical programs, although not in this combination. We are glad to have this new group to add to our musical section, for while we do not know that they can sing, we'll wager they can, and present them here, pictorially to you.

“AS WE STRUT”

More pep has been shown by the students this year than ever before. Each class has contributed its share of dances, bob-parties, and to the society programs, and a wonderful spirit has prevailed through the entire year.

Convocations have been a delight to us, for each was the best entertainment that our departments could prepare. Glee clubs, choruses, band, orchestra, literary society, and town friends all deserve our hearty thanks.

LITERARY SOCIETY

The Literary Society met in the Library, December 16th. This was the Christmas meeting and the program was made up of numbers, which brought the sacred joy to us that comes with the Christmas spirit. The program was:

1. Story, "The Other Wise Man" Timothy Frederick
2. Piano solo, "Star of Hope" Gladys Olson
3. Poem, "Shoe or Stocking" Minnie Miscevich
4. Story, "Christmas in Foreign Lands" Bethel Siegler
5. Poem, "Crowded Out" Miss Middlestadt
6. Christmas Carol "Cantique-de-Noel" Blanche Bradley
7. Song, "Holy Night" Everyone

THE GHOSTLY STROLL

This year's Hallowe'en frolic had, without doubt, the happiest termination of any of the parties of preceding years. For the first time in the history of our ghostly gatherings, the faculty masqued, and oh, what a relief to be at a party without the usual "chap" with the lantern and goggles. And, would you believe it, these older children were just as frisky as the "young 'uns." Goblins gobbled, and danced, and ate, until the official spook, who was arrayed in "pajamas" walked in his sleep and told us to go home.

"HOWDY-DO AND HOW ARE YOU?"

The first and always one of the most successful social events of the year is the "Howdy-do and How are You?" dance given by the Senior class, for the teachers, student-body, alumni and friends. This year it was held in the Masonic Temple, and the "Steel City Jazz Hounds" made the evening trip gayly along. A few of the rheumatic members meant only to observe, but when the novelty dances were announced and the confetti was raining, it was dance and dance merrily for self-protection. Even Mr. Baker was doing the Charleston according to a principal's creed, and one or two of our dignified (??) chaps even upset in a very graceful manner. Everyone was forced to forget the worries of the day, and to join in the friendly frolic, and not even a grouch could pronounce this affair anything but a success, although there were few Democrats in our midst.

JUNIOR DANCE

Not to be outdone by the Seniors are these Junior chaps, so they, too, would give a dance, and what is more noble and inspirational than to follow in the steps of such a kingly and queenly group—the Seniors! We courtesy to you, fellow Juniors, that you appreciate us and wish to imitate us.

The dance excelled. It was the merriest occasion of the year, for the novelty dances,—and many they were—furnished toys to the sleepy Freshies, noise producers for the students and reminders of "ye airy days" to our devoted "chaps." Coach Lawler was heard to remark that this was the best party he had attended since he was out of his prime, and Uncle Billy Revelli did more "actin' and cuttin' up" than any of us.

The hall was beautifully arrayed in red and white crepe paper, the class colors, and presented a festive air, so in time with the gala-evening. Not one item was omitted in making this the super-social event, for the "Black Hawk" Orchestra was very generous with its tunes. When Community Hall was again in darkness, she whispered to herself: "Where are those songs? Those dances? That din of merry voices? Those flashes of merriment, that were won't to set the house in a roar?"

JUNIOR BANQUET AND PROM AS IT WERE

How do we know we're going to be honored by the Juniors to a Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom! No committee meetings yet, no plans, no-nothing, and likely will not be until this book is off the press. Why not enjoy the little proverb, "That Anticipation is half the joy," and imagine one. Anyway it might serve as a suggestion to the Juniors, and the power of suggestion does much oftentimes.

Methinks I see tables, decorated with georgeous foliage (that could be the Freshies if this wasn't an upper classmen affair) and wonderful "touch-me-nots,"—(them's the women)—and snap dragons,—(them's the men)—which presents a scene symbolic of a Parisian Garden. On one side I see fairy sprites—the M. E. Ladies Aid, dancing and tripping to the music of tin-pans, china rattle and silver twangs. Their music is made more delightful by the accompanying words, "c-beans—car-rots and cab-bages," and no more choice music was ever served to anyone. Occasionally some eloquent orator—possibly Max Brand or Mr. Dickey arose to delight us with a snappy story—not too old—and gladden our hearts by a draught of mirth. Possibly, though not probably, might Warren Boyd reproduce his latest dance with the Swish—Swish! but this banquet being in a church—his initial number was scheduled to moisten the eyes and throats of the merrymaking group, until we adjourned to the roof garden of the Gem, where all cares become joys and everyone waltzed that last waltz, with "hisn or hern" and pronounced the Juniors a class of novelties, not relics—(them's the Seniors)—but novelties.

Favors were given each guest, a touch-me-not to the man, and a snap dragon to the woman, there being enough of each to go around with Don Lee and Herb Scharbach left over, to find amusement by letting the air from the chariot wheels and tying knots in the evening shawls. Not ceremonial knots, for that isn't their profession, neither being a minister or a J. of P., but just a dainty bow-knot, or a what-knot as Coach Lawler would say.

All in all 'tis a fine dream, and everyone left with "well-filled baskets and a good time was had by all."

We hope these suggestions prove worthy of our thought, and we freely present them to the Juniors to be used—item for item or otherwise.

"The TIMEKEEPER"

Tuesday, Sept. 7. Mr. Dickey introduces the new teachers. Freshmen enter with great flourish, including dolls, dollrags and tinker-toys.

Wednesday, Sept. 8. Seniors are sent to "the lower regions" in order that their contagion of "egoitis" may not spread. Dr. Wimborough will pass them the bitter pills.

Thursday, Sept. 9. Mr. Baker assigns seats in the Assembly. Many changes, but no improvement was made.

Friday, Sept. 10. Students still pondering over subjects they should take, could take and wish to take.

Monday, Sept. 14. Frank Brown upsets in the Assembly as he takes a corner too fast. The insurance company reports a rear axle cracked.

Tuesday, Sept. 14. The little Senior boys appear in "knee panties" that are "knockouts" and socklets that are "roll outs."

Wednesday, Sept. 15 Seniors elect class officers, Eddie is the "trained goat" to lead the little lambs to the slaughter.

Thursday, Sept. 16. Seniors order jewelry. Girls are so thrilled. Agent is young, handsome and holds their hands so tenderly.

Friday, Sept. 17. Fair Day today. All the "chickens" will be in the poultry show!

Monday, Sept. 20. Annual Staff begins the Annual groans. Growing pains seldom kill, though.

Tuesday, Sept. 21. Seniors begin selling Annuals. Front doors and gates are locked to avoid the pest agent.

Wednesday, Sept. 22. The Rainy Day. Genevieve Shannon is seen looking at Ward Hatten in Assembly. Eyes are bad enough, but beware her fingers, Ward!

Thursday, Sept. 23. Seniors begin their annual howl—"Get a book—get a book while they last!" Only 500 copies left.

Friday, Sept. 24. Miss Gruver speaking to Pauline Burris in Book-keeping: "Well, Pauline, your cents are all there."

Monday, Sept. 27. Cross Country Team begins to get cross. Blistered heels! Stiff Coach! Rheumatism pains in common.

Tuesday, Sept. 28. School Cafeteria opens. Hear the "hot dogs" bark and see Mr. Newcomb start. He loves the domestic pets.

Wednesday, Sept. 30. Seniors are given lockers for their valuables. Harry Coons stores his pipe.

Thursday, Sept. 31. Senior Dance coming. "The Whole Town's Talking," about somepin, what is it??

Friday, Oct. 1. Mr. Dickey gives an intelligence test to everyone but the teachers.

Monday, Oct. 4. First Basket-ball call, Mr. Newcomb to coach the girls! The Gym won't hold all the female of the species. Mr. Newcomb surely is the "loved" son.

Tuesday, Oct. 5. It didn't rain!!

Wednesday, Oct. 4. Alice Van Loon announces her undying love for Mr. Newcomb. He's such a nice little carpenter.

Thursday, Oct. 7. Harry Coons and Carl Scheid say "Good-mornin'," Judge, with much gusto and basso, ending with pathos.

Friday, Oct. 8. Seniors are dancing their friends.

Monday, Oct. 11. Pictures are being made for the Annual. Everyone tries to develop "Baby faces." Mr. Dickey becomes discouraged.

Tuesday, Oct. 12. Signs of work, six weeks tests are on. Please pass the brains.

Wednesday, Oct. 13. Track teams go to Hammond. They report that it is a lovely little city.

Thursday, Oct. 14. No school tomorrow. Teachers are "Instituting."

Friday, Oct. 15. Everyone oversleeps!

Monday, Oct. 18. Monday—as dumb and blue as ever.

Tuesday, Oct. 19. Varsities begin Basket-ball in earnest.

Wednesday, Oct. 20. Report cards out. Red letter day for some.

Thursday, Oct. 21. Ruth Wilcox in cooking, "I thought beef came off of sheep."

Friday, Oct. 22. Juniors copy Seniors and give a dance for their friends.

Monday, Oct. 25. Freshies bring the balloons that they got at the dance to school. Mr. Baker has quite a collection of both.

Tuesday, Oct. 26. Mr. Dickey thinks it advisable to teach "Charm" in H. H. S. if he can find time to do it.

Wednesday, Oct. 27. Mr. Newcomb seldom leaves his office for the girls pursue him so.

Thursday, Oct. 28. School dismisses to attend the funeral of our classmate, Marcella Kruse.

Friday, Oct. 29. Convocation. "There's music in the air," as well as "noise." Hallow'en party tonight.

Monday, Nov. 1. The Goblins were all out, including, Mr. Baker.

Tuesday, Nov. 2. Student Council counsels. Snowing. Everyone looks through the windows instead of looking through their books.

Wednesday, Nov. 3. Mr. Baker has a haircut and a cold.

Thursday, Nov. 4. Edwin Scharbach decides Miss Wimbrough's pictures don't flatter her, after all.

Friday, Nov. 5. Literary society begins to literate.

Monday, Nov. 8. Mr. Lawler substitutes over in the grades. He's a big brother to 'em all, we guess!

Tuesday, Nov. 9. Seniors go up the river to find some Beauty Spots! Camera man kept busy.

Wednesday, Nov. 10. Max Brand elected yell-leader.

Thursday, Nov. 11. Armistice Day Program. Miss Middlestadt and Mr. Dickey give talks.

Friday, Nov. 12. Crisman comes over, to play with us in our Gym. We wish they hadn't.

Monday, Nov. 15. Our advertising boys land in jail in Gary. They tried to park on a back porch.

Tuesday, Nov. 16. Maynard Argo and the assembly teacher both take a nap.

Wednesday, Nov. 17. Miss Wimbrough drops a vase on the stage, and wakes her assembly.

WILL LOVES HER
20 21 22 23 24

Thursday, Nov. 17. "The Whole Town's Talking," but we don't know what about. Doesn't take much though.

Friday, Nov. 19. The Play wasn't so bad was it? The actors and actresses knees surely "kneeced."

Monday, Nov. 22. Westville went home feelin' lonesome and blue.

Tuesday, Nov. 23. Six weeks exams. We hope the students heads aren't as blank as their faces.

Wednesday, Nov. 24. Thankful? Well, I guess! Vacation begins.

Thursday, Nov. 25. We revered the gobblers last gobble.

Monday, Nov. 29. Senior jewelry arrives! It doesn't suit 'em.

Thursday, Dec. 2. Literary Society meets. Report cards are ready for us.

Friday, Dec. 3. Basket-ball game at Whiting. We're all goin'!

Monday, Dec. 6. Our Basket-ball warriors scared Whiting nearly to death. Senior dance a big success. Who stepped on his partners toes?

Tuesday, Dec. 7. Night School! Students wear their evening dresses. Visitors were many.

Wednesday, Dec. 8. Harry Coons appears in suspenders. Is it a "safety-first" or a fad?

Thursday, Dec. 9. Edna Freidrich does not want her name in the Calendar, so we publish her request.

Friday, Dec. 10. We went down to Crisman and mopped up their gym.

Monday, Dec. 13. Senior Annual Staff has a party out at "Tubby's."

Tuesday, Dec. 14. Capt. Keilman is hunting for his cops. Where are the Irishmen?

Wednesday, Dec. 15. Nick, Harry, Lindy, Leroy, George—all of cupid boys, begin their Christmas shopping tours. Mr. Knapp kept busy.

Thursday, Dec. 16. Seniors exchanging pictures. Mothers did you know you are the "mothers of Art?"

Friday, Dec. 17. Horace Mann proved too much "boy" for both our teams "licked" 'em. We want more lolly-pops.

Monday, Dec. 20. Mr. Mattei entertained us at Convocation. We didn't know music could be so wonderful on a saxophone!

Tuesday, Dec. 21. Tom Messick and Pete Marquardt enter assembly in collegiate walk. Mr. Broad sends them out "pussy-footing."

Wednesday, Dec. 22. Hobart made Hammond perspire a bit, and we chalked up two real victories.

Thursday, Dec. 23. Christmas party a success. Mr. Baker gets what he has wanted for so long, "a baby." Genevieve Shannon starts filling a hope-chest for Ward, that Mr. Newcomb gave her. Mr. Newcomb has the Christmas spirit all right. No more school until Jan. 3.

Monday, Jan. 3, 1927. "The Crowning Year" for thirty Seniors! May it bring them Happiness and Success.

Tuesday, Jan. 4. More pictures being taken.

Wednesday, Jan. 5. Seniors order their Commencement announcements! They are beautifully formal.

Thursday, Jan. 6. Seniors grow bold, and challenge their "uncles" on the faculty to a Basket-ball game. Doc Lawler kept busy giving rub-downs to the "rheumatic Papas."

Friday, Jan. 7. East Chicago takes us down in Basket-ball.

Monday, Jan. 10. A real snow! Mr. Nuzum loses his Ford.

Tuesday, Jan. 11. We are becoming a studio for Moviedom! See us at the Gem next week.

LAWLER

GRUVER

Coach Lawler:

Mr. Lawler was a star on both the cinders and court at Earlham College and for the past four years, athletics at Hobart High has been under his capable guidance.

During this time he has turned out Basket-ball teams that are among the best that ever represented the school, re-established track athletics, and introduced cross-country-running. We sincerely hope that he will be with us again next year to carry on his good work.

Coach Newcomb:

A good deal of difficulty was encountered in securing a mentor for the girls' Basket-ball team. Mr. Newcomb was finally selected by the faculty to keep the "Gold-Dusters" under a motherly wing. Coach Newcomb lacked experience in this line and was seriously handicapped by the lack of material, but he has proved himself to be "such a little mother to the others."

Miss Gruver:

Although Miss Gruver hasn't actively coached she has acted as manager for the girls and always interfered when hair-pulling matches seemed almost inevitable. She proved to be a good step-mother and her hair is no redder or any other color now, than when she began. The girls certainly appreciated her efforts in managing them, and wish to thank her for the same.

MOSS

HAWKE

Coach Moss:

Mr. Moss, first coach of organized athletics in Junior High School, has constantly turned out teams of championship caliber. The first season the "Minors" lost the county grade title by a single game. This season an Invitation Grade Tournament" was held under the auspices of Coach Moss, and his team again lost by the margin of a single game. Valuable material has been furnished to the High School teams through Coach Moss' efforts.

Yell Leader Brand:

"Red" our most faithful fan and supporter has followed the team all over the country and back again. In fact, the school colors seem to be "purple and gold and 'Red'." He has all the requisites of a good, peppy yell leader and will be lost by his graduation.

Yell Leader Hawke:

Bobbie deserves the credit for the fine support which is always given to the grade teams. His unceasing efforts to arouse enthusiasm are rewarded with large turn-outs which he handled like a veteran.

E. SCHARBACH

SCHWUCHOW

CALVERT

George Melat:

"Joe" is a very clever offensive player, but is too small to hold his own defensively. He seldom bungles a play or misses a shot. The Junior class claims him.

Donald Lee, "Smokey":

"Smokey" has been a member of the team for the past three years and his "dead eye," and evenness in crucial moments have enabled us to win many games. "Smokey" will wear a cap and gown this year.

Edwin Scharbach:

"Duke" has the distinction of being one of the best back guards that ever wore the "purple and gold" of Hobart High. His steady, reliable playing is the keystone of the team's defense. It will take a good man to fill his "jersey."

Arthur Schwuchow:

"Art" is the man who can depended upon to "cage the leather" a few times each game. His dreamy look has a disastrous effect on the girls. They will watch his sensational playing two more years.

Vernon Calvert:

"Goomey" has the knack of sinking 'em-possible shots, be they long or short. He should develop into a fine forward. Mr. Dickey will present him with a "sheep skin" three years from now.

HAWKE

H. SCHARBACH

PRICE

STEWART

Ralph Hawke:

A noticeable lack of size is "Rip's" handicap. He works faithfully and has a dead eye for the "skirted hoop." "Rip" will probably be holding down a regular berth next year.

Carl Schavey:

"Cocky" although only a Freshman is one of our coming stars. What he lacks in experience he makes up in fight. He should develop into a fine running mate for Calvert.

Herbert Scharbach:

"Herb" is a fine defensive center and shows the proper fight and drive at all times. By his good passing he has become an important cog in the team's offense. We are depending on you next year, "Herb."

Eli Price:

"Shiek" in addition to being "our man" is our star offensive player. His favorite pastime is snapping the net and keeping opposing guards on the jump. Eli will receive his third and last letter this year.

John Stewart:

"Moon" lives up to his name and shines each evening in the Gym. Floor guard is "Moon's" stall and he fills it capably. Long shots are his delight and he will be sinking them next year.

MELLON SCHARBACH BALLANTYNE TRESTER HOLZMER ANDERER

Isabel Mellon:

Isabel, a reliable player, held her place in center again this year. She is tall and plays a snappy game at all times. We have one more year to watch her.

Ada Scharbach:

Ada lived up to the Scharbach name as well as her nick-name "Pep" in her spirit shown at Basket-ball. She showed great ability as sub-center in holding down her opponent. Ada is a Freshman and will play during the next three years.

Madeline Ballantyne:

We are losing a good center and Captain in having "Red" graduate this year. She has shown a good fighting spirit for three years and certainly made an excellent center. Sorry to lose you, "Red."

Truth Trester:

Truth, better known as "Toots" is as good at Basket-ball as she is tall. Her ability at basket tossing was excellent though she had few opportunities to prove it. She subbed as forward this year. "Toots" is now a Junior.

Florence Holzmer:

Florence changed her position to forward this year after having held a place in center for two years. She showed considerable ability in snapping the net, and always worked her hardest. This is her last year with the team.

Marcella Anderer:

"Red" the 3rd., of last year, has moved up a notch and is now "Red the 2nd." She plays forward, though she is somewhat backward, and shows a keen eye for baskets. She scored considerably during the year and did her bit to help Hobart to victory. Marcella will play two more years.

ROWE GILL MISCEVICH PELLEGRINI RUCHTI BURRIS

Doris Rowe:

Doris is small but mighty when it comes to guarding. She shows much speed in getting the ball and sending it down the floor, in fact, she's one of our best. Though she is but a sub, she showed her stuff in nearly all of the games and will continue to do so in the next two years.

Helen Gill:

Helen showed her "Irish" for the first time this year in Basket-ball. She was splendid at scoring and fought her best when fortunate enough to be "subbed" and will continue to show her ability at basket tossing for two more years.

Minnie Miscevich:

Minnie, in her two years of playing has proved to be a very dependable guard. She holds 'em down on both ends of the floor and shows plenty of pep. Minnie is a Sophomore this year.

Rose Pellegrini:

Rose was a dependable sub throughout the year and showed the results of good training whenever the opportunity was hers. She fought hard and always played a snappy game. Rose is but a Sophomore this year.

Tuberia Ruchti:

"Tubby" has performed her share of feats in Basket-ball in the position of a guard. She has fought hard during her career and certainly was a reliable guard. She was right there when it came to pep and we hate to be reminded of her being a Senior this year.

Pauline Burris:

"Polly" was sub-guard this year. Besides being big, she was a real fighter. She played hard when permitted to engage in combat and proved herself worthy of her position. "Polly" graduates this year, too.

“Brick Dust”

With a nucleus team of “Five-letter men” and better material, the “Brick-yard Squad” had high hopes of going through the season undefeated. These expectations, however, received a severe jolt when a team which was supposed to be decidedly inferior, vanquished our veterans in the first game.

November 12, Crisman at Hobart—Score 30 to 26

Crisman came to Hobart with determination “to win or die,” and they are all living happily today. The inability of the Hobart team to score from the “Charity Stripe,” accounts for the loss of the game. Our team scored from the field as often as the Red and White but were able to cage only six free throws out of eighteen attempts. Hobart lacked the fight that usually characterizes Hobart teams.

November 20, Westville at Hobart—Score 27 to 33

The defensive playing of Hobart showed a marked improvement over that of the first game. Westville brought over a good team and forced our veterans to work every minute for their five-point victory.

November 24, Griffith at Hobart—Score 13 to 46

Coach Lawler ironed out most of the kinks in the “purple and gold” offense, in the course of the week, and Griffith was smothered under one avalanche of field goals after another. The game was “too much Hobart” to be a real test of the team’s ability.

December 3, Hobart at Whiting—Score 30 to 14

The Whiting game was the first away from home. At the end of the first half the “Oilers” led 13 to 10, but they came back strong in the second half and sank long shots that the Hobart defense could not touch. Whiting would not consent to a return game.

December 10, Hobart at Crisman—Score 25 to 32

Hobart made its first Pilgrimage to Crisman with vengeance as the foremost motive. Crisman, however, turned the tables, and out-played and out-scored the team that started the game. A new team was substituted which more than held its own, but the lead was too great to overcome. This defeat was a bitter disappointment to the Hobart supporters.

December 17, Horace Mann at Hobart—Score 11 to 18

The "Horsemen" of Horace Mann were defeated without much difficulty in a game that was slowed up considerably by the stalling tactics of the visitors. A game had been scheduled with Hammond Tech. for the date but basket-ball was discontinued there, due to the fact that a Gym was unavailable.

December 22, Hammond at Hobart—Score 28 to 36

Of all the games on our schedule this one is perhaps the hardest fought and the one in which Hobart reaches the "high pointing" of the season.

Our defensive game was weak the first half but became impregnable during the second and the Hammond guards were unable to stop the driving attack of our forwards. The most outstanding feature, however, was the fight and determination that Hobart showed at every stage of the game. The fine sportsmanship shown by the Hammond teams is ever worthy of commendation.

January 7, Hobart at Roosevelt—Score 19 to 28

One of the most reliable guards on the team was unable to participate in this game because of injuries and the team defense was weakened as a result. Roosevelt managed to take the lead at the start and hold it the entire contest. Hobart worked the ball down well but missed countless under-the-basket shots which would have spelled defeat for their opponents.

Last year at the sectional tournament the "Rough riders" of Roosevelt eliminated Hobart by one point.

January 21, Lowell at Hobart—Score 23 to 32

The games with Chesterton, here and Westville at Westville, were postponed until a later date because of a snow storm which made travel practically impossible.

Our rival, Lowell, was the next team to bow in defeat before the "hard-wood artists" of Hobart High. The game was rough and tumble affair in which over thirty personal fouls were called. From the spectator's point of view the game was perhaps the most interesting of the season. It was nip and tuck for the first few minutes, but Lowell forged ahead, and led by a score of ten to four. At the end of the half Hobart was out in front with a nine point lead which they annexed with a good deal of hard work.

January 28, Hobart at Griffith—Score 24 to 15

The first part of the game was played by the Hobart Reserves who led by one point at the end of the first half. The regulars who were substituted, although they worked the ball down well, constantly missed easy shots and were not able to run up the score. The Griffith team fought hard throughout the entire contest but the fact that Hobart could not "get going" made the game rather dull and uninteresting.

January 29, Hobart at Westville—Score 29 to 25

In spite of the fact that Hobart defeated Westville earlier in the season, a hard fight was expected and the expectations were correct.

Westville took the lead in the first few minutes of play and at the end of twenty minutes they led by four points.

Hobart displayed a real "comeback" the second half and overcame Westville's lead in a few minutes but two of our most reliable defensive players were put out of the contest on personal fouls and Westville sank several long shots which again put them in the lead. Some clever combination work enabled our team to get several "last minute shots" which won the game for us.

February 5, Hobart at Chesterton—Score 30 to 18

The faith of the Hobart supporters, in the teams ability was given a severe test during the first half of the game. Chesterton, by a series of long shots, scored ten points in as many minutes and allowed Hobart but four.

During the second half, however, the "Red and White" clad warriors of Chesterton were confronted with an airtight defense which they penetrated only once. Hobart, in the meantime scored thirteen points and raised the number of victories to four straight.

“Gold Dust”

Westville, 20—13

The Hobart girls again struggled for victory against Westville, but their team surpassed ours in size as well as power. The first half was very close, Hobart scoring 8 and Westville 9, but in the second half our girls were a little unfortunate on fouls and two of our players had to be taken out and subs were used. They too, tried hard but could not succeed in snapping the net often enough. The final score was 20 to 13 in Westville's favor. However, the girls have great hopes of getting even when they play Westville there.

Crisman, 38—12

On December 10th, Hobart once more permitted Crisman to defeat them, though there was considerable improvement over the first time. During the first half it seemed Hobart could do very little, and it seemed Crisman would once more walk away from us, in fact they almost did in the first half with a score of 30 to 6. But in the second half, having become more accustomed to the baskets and having learned the tricks of our opponents a little better, we held Crisman down to the extent that they scored but two more points than Hobart. Though we couldn't clean up the Crisman girls, we did mop up their floor nicely. However we must commend the girls on their hard work at least.

Valparaiso, 18—13

Friday, January 22, the girls team journeyed to Valparaiso with the hope of at least having this game be theirs, but again they were defeated, the score being 18 to 13.

Yes, the girls fought hard and held Valpo down until the lasa quarter, in fact the score was tied five times during the game and at the end of the third quarter the score was 12 to 10 in our favor, but right before the end, Valpo gushed forth with another stream of baskets and won the game. At any rate, the fact that only two rooters followed the team, which was due to the severeness of the weather and the terrible condition of the roads. However, Hobart has good chances of defeating Valpo here, February 26th.

Wheeler, 21—18

Wheeler came to Hobart and handed Hobart girls their 5th defeat of the season on Wednesday night, but even yet the girls haven't given up hopes; they may win a game yet, in fact they almost did win this game and had Wheeler guessing for a few minutes.

Both teams put up a good fight and those who missed the game, missed a good one. Wheeler scored first and at the quarter had a 3 to 0 lead on Hobart, but in the second quarter Hobart retaliated and scored 7. However, Wheeler scored 7 more also, and at the half the score was 10 to 7.

During the second half Wheeler began to score more than ever, making it 16 to 10 in their favor at the third quarter, but again Hobart renewed her attempt and ran her score up to 18. In about the last two minutes Wheeler scored a few more baskets and won by a close margin of 3.

Westville, 32—31

Our first victory of the season was achieved at Westville, January 29th. That the girls were out for revenge was plainly seen as they plunged into the battle, though at times, their revenge looked doubtful.

To begin with, Westville scored a field goal. Immediately Hobart back-fired and scored three points, and thus both teams continued to score throughout the game. Hobart, however, held the lead during the first half and it ended with a score of 16 to 13. But—this was only a half of the game, and when we returned to the floor, Westville proved that she still had hopes of defeating us again. Nevertheless our girls held their own. With the opposing team ahead for the first time during the game, and with a minute and a half to go, the battle royal was again resumed. Hobart struggled forward with just enough to make the game theirs—the final score being 32 to 31. Yes, Hobart won! This was the first time the girls ever became victors over Westville on Westville's floor, so that alone can make up for their previous defeats of the season. Their next victory they hope will be at Chesterton on February 4th.

Chesterton, 23—19

Chesterton defeated the girls for the first time for several years on February 4th. Though the girls fought hard they were unable to defeat Chesterton. During the first half it seemed almost impossible to get the ball down the floor to Hobart's forwards and as a result they scored but 7, while Chesterton scored 13. However, we raised our score 12 points to their 10 in the second half, but the end of the game was a victory for them. Hobart did exceptionally well on free-throws, making 8 out of 9. Had there been more fouls on the part of Chesterton, we might have won the game on free-throws. The girls hope to get even this Saturday when the return game will be played here.

"Soot"

The prospects for the season were somewhat dimmed by the loss of most of the veterans but the squad set out earnestly to duplicate the splendid record of last year's team. Froebel of Gary was the only team to defeat the "Miners" twice, and Emerson of Gary, although they lost to Hobart earlier in the season, avenged themselves in the Tournament. The most outstanding games of the regular season were those with Emerson and Jefferson.

Dec. 8, Columbus at Hobart—Score 8-28

The Columbus team, severely handicapped by the lack of a Gym, was decidedly inferior to Hobart in every department of the game. Coach Moss used the entire squad in the course of the evening and the outcome was at no time questionable.

Dec. 15, Froebel at Hobart—Score 29-18

Froebel early evaded the Hobart defense, and won their second victory of the season over the "Red and White." The usual driving offense of the grade team seemed to be missing and the forwards were unable to make connections with "hoop" as they had in previous games.

The team recovered rapidly from its "slump" and defeated Emerson at Emerson, twenty-nine to eighteen.

Jan. 26, Jefferson at Hobart—Score 13-26

Hobart managed to defeat the Jefferson crew without a great deal of difficulty. The visitors made things look rather blue for a while, but the five-man offense displayed by the "Miners" was more than the Jefferson defense could handle and Hobart was able to hold a comfortable lead during the entire thirty minutes. Jefferson was defeated earlier in the season by Hobart. The score was fourteen to sixteen.

HOBART INVITATIONAL GRADE TOURNAMENT

Saturday morning, January the eighth, the preliminaries of Hobart's first Annual Grade Tourney started with a "bang." The tournament was held under the auspices of the Junior High School, at Roosevelt Gym. The Lake County Tournament which was held at Gary, on the same date, caused a conflict; as a result some of the strongest teams in this section were not able to participate.

Hobart entered two teams and in the first game Michigan City's seconds eliminated the Hobart seconds by one point.

Valparaiso was the only team which offered resistance to the "Miners" in the semi-finals. After a very hard and exciting fight Hobart "nosed out" the "Green and White" by three points.

Emerson of Gary was Hobart's opponent in the final game. The score was fourteen to seven in favor of the "Red and White" at the end of the first half, but the team was unable to hold its lead and Emerson won the game in an overtime period.

A pennant and a new ball were presented to the winners of the tournament which Coach Moss hopes to make an annual affair.

The outstanding players were Moltz of Valpo, and Hamilton of Emerson, forwards; White of Valpo, center; Kraft of Hobart, and Watt of Valpo, guards.

Back Row—W. Thompson, J. Stewart, E. Price, N. Havrilla, D. Lee, H. Scharbach, W. Nelson, M. Swynenburg, E. Bartos.

Hobart has not been represented by a track team for several years, but in the spring of 1926 the sport was again put on a firm basis in the school. Unfavorable weather conditions and the lack of a suitable place to practice gave the team a poor start.

"HILL AND DALERS"

Name	Points
Schwuchow	8
Thompson	12
Nelson	14
Scharbach	15
Shultz	19
Howard	25

Cross-country running is a comparatively new sport in this region and the fall of 1926 marked the organization of Hobart's first team of "Hill and Dalers."

This sport is such a grueling test of nerve and endurance and is so devoid of anything spectacular, that little interest was shown the first year. Only a few men responded to the call for candidates but good coaching and the right spirit made up for the scanty material.

17 HORSEPOWER

The Froebel Invitational Track and Field Meet was the first of the season for the Hobart "thin clads" and they were able to score only one and one-half points. The team showed a great deal of improvement in the quadrangular meet at Lowell and in the next meet, Hammond managed to out-sprint us and win by a few points.

Our ancient rival, Crown Point, alone bowed in defeat before the Hobart "Section Gang." The Meet was a "characteristic battle" from the start to the finish and the contestants were deluged by a downpour of rain. A three point margin gave us our much desired victory.

Argo, Bartos, Lee, Mellon, Nelson, Schwuchow, Stewart, and Thompson were the men who scored the required number of points and were awarded the major letters for their efforts.

"6 MILES ON A DINNER"

The Hammond Invitational Cross-Country Meet was the only one in which the team participated. A drizzle of cold penetrating rain fell during the entire contest which chilled the entrants to the bone and caused them to shiver wretchedly in their scanty but many-hued running outfits. The course was very muddy and treacherously slippery, but in spite of the unfavorable weather conditions the meet was run off in fair time. "Art" Schwuchow was the only Hobart man to finish within the first ten and the team finished third against a strong field of six teams. Coach Lawler was very pleased with the showing the team made and has fine prospects for the coming season as the entire squad will return.

The teams represented in the meet at Hammond finished as follows:

Teams	Score
Hammond	33
Harvey	54
Hobart	68
Brook	80
Froebel	98
Emerson	113

Advice To Girls

How to find galoshes in the Rest Room:

1. Enter Girls' Rest Room bravely and approach pile of galoshes.
2. Rapidly eliminate all zippers, radio boots, carriage boots and rubbers.
3. Gaze at size of your own foot and try to visualize which one of the remaining sixteen galoshes might fit it.
4. Try one. This will not be the right one.
5. Try another, being sure to cast these back into pile. You might want to try them on again.
6. Repeat 4 and 5. You probably will not be able to find either right or left one.
7. Leave without them, or else remember you didn't wear any.

At Your Service

Nineteen Hundred and Twenty-seven sees this institution entering its forty-second year. During this short span of years the management has enjoyed a very unusual growth, starting in a very meager way it has grown until it now ranks as one of the most successful country stores of America.

The management is very grateful for the trust placed with them by the people of this great community.

WE PLEDGE TO YOU

A continuance of the service rendered by placing at the disposal of the community merchandise of unquestioned merit at prices that are consistently lower than offered by surrounding cities. To guard jealously the confidence you have placed in the management of this store by only purchasing merchandise that we know is of unquestionable quality and to stand back of every sale. We further pledge to guard our overhead expenses to keep the operating expenses at a minimum to take advantage of every available discount, that we may bring your daily needs to you at the lowest possible price. We pledge to be truthful in our dealings with you and in our advertising.

HERE are innumerable details which enter into the printing text and layout of Annuals that cannot be gleaned from books or acquired from a series of lectures. "Tricks of the trade" we all call them; little things that the experienced eye is quick to observe and the experienced hand quick to master. There are a thousand and one of them, seeming trifles in the printing of an Annual which can make or mar the finished book. Our long experience and specialization can reveal what they are and how to correct, improve or avoid them.

Becktold Covers!

THE beautiful cover on this annual is a Becktold.

Because it is a Becktold it will prove durable and lasting . . . a compliment to the wisdom and farsightedness of the staff in charge.

Becktold never fails to lend an atmosphere of true quality. The handsome grain, originality of design, deep embossing and artistic blending of colors have made this cover preferred. On these qualities the Becktold has built its reputation for complete satisfaction.

Gentlemen:

Now that the great rush is over, our annuals delivered, and we have time to pursue it more carefully, we feel very keenly our appreciation of your service. We have worked with many engraving companies, but not one of them has rendered personal service by offering plans and suggestions by which we could steer ourselves through difficulties. This you have done in each case, and these were not few in number, we know. Service has been your motto in each detail.

From a financial standpoint, we are very well satisfied. Your prices are reasonable for the quality of your work. We have compared our engraving with that of many other year-books, and it makes us very proud to note that our AURORA is quite superior to any that we have seen. We do not feel that we are egotistical in this statement, for the credit is yours, but we are very glad that we were so fortunate in being able to let you have our contract. Your fair prices indicate that such will be the case as long as you wish it, for already the 1927 staff has declared its intention to seek your service. In Hobart High School you seem to be established for years to come.

Very truly yours,

Guy Dickey
 Superintendent of Schools.

THE BONUS

OUR task we have completed. Our gratitude goes out to those who have so faithfully and generously supported us. To our photographer, Mr. Grabill we owe much. No effort was too much for him to put forth in order to get the glimpse that we wanted to give to you. To our advertisers we extend our sincere thanks, and promise to always be their boosters, and we ask you to serve them as they have served us. To Judge Gary, and the Chambers of Commerce, of Whiting, Gary, East Chicago, and Hammond we offer our appreciation for their cooperation. To the Bond Engraving Company who has been so faithful and untiring in granting us consideration in abundance, every time we were in need, we present our loyalty, gratitude and appreciation and the merits of this book speak freely of its kindness to us. To all others we feel kindly and trust you may feel so with us for this publication.

WHEN THE 1927 AURORA COMES OUT

the 1990s, the number of people with a mental health problem has increased in the UK, and the number of people with a mental health problem who are in contact with mental health services has also increased (Mental Health Act 1983, 1990, 1994, 1997, 2003).

There is a growing awareness of the need to improve the lives of people with a mental health problem, and to reduce the stigma and discrimination that they experience. This has led to a number of initiatives, including the development of mental health services, and the implementation of mental health legislation (Mental Health Act 1983, 1990, 1994, 1997, 2003).

The aim of this paper is to describe the development of a mental health service, and to discuss the challenges that have been faced in the process. The paper is based on a review of the literature, and on interviews with staff and service users. The findings of the review are discussed in the context of the current debate on mental health services.

The paper is organized as follows. The first section describes the development of the mental health service, and the second section discusses the challenges that have been faced in the process. The third section discusses the findings of the review, and the fourth section discusses the implications of the findings for the development of mental health services.

The first section describes the development of the mental health service. The service was established in 1990, and has since grown to become one of the largest mental health services in the UK. The service provides a range of services, including community mental health teams, day hospitals, and residential care.

The second section discusses the challenges that have been faced in the process of developing the mental health service. These challenges include the need to raise awareness of mental health problems, to reduce the stigma and discrimination that people with a mental health problem experience, and to improve the quality of mental health services.

The third section discusses the findings of the review. The findings show that there has been a significant increase in the number of people with a mental health problem who are in contact with mental health services. This increase is due to a number of factors, including the development of mental health services, and the implementation of mental health legislation.

The fourth section discusses the implications of the findings for the development of mental health services. The findings suggest that there is a need to continue to improve the quality of mental health services, and to reduce the stigma and discrimination that people with a mental health problem experience. This can be achieved by a number of measures, including the development of mental health services, and the implementation of mental health legislation.
